Between Bank Burglars and a Posse of Citizens at Ridgeville, Ind.

MEN GOT AWAY WITH $5,000

CASHIER BRANSON RECEIVED A WOUND IN THE FOREHEAD

Two of Seven Robbers Shot by Branson—Town at Mercy of Burglars For Hour.

Ridgeville, Ind., Oct. 24.—Burglars early this morning blew the safe in the bank of Ridgeville, stole $5,000 and after a running battle with a posse of citizens escaped. The bank's loss is covered by insurance. For more than an hour the town was practically at the mercy of the robbers who openly walked the streets shooting at everything in sight and taking their time in leaving the scene of the crime.

The first charge of nitroglycerine did little damage. The second charge aroused Cashier Branson. The guards opened fire on him. He, with President Sumpton, turned on a fire alarm. The electric lights in the town were turned on and the citizens attempted to surround the robbers. The burglars shot out the light and Cashier Branson received a wound in the forehead. Two of the seven robbers were wounded by Mr. Branson.

PRESIDENT VISITS TUSKEGEE SCHOOL

Greeted by Booker Washington, the Faculty and Trustees, President
Addresses Students.

Tuskegee, Ala., Oct. 24.—After but a brief stop here President Roosevelt's train proceeded this morning to the grounds of Booker Washington's great school for negroes, the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute. Great crowds flocked into the city and the institute grounds to welcome the executive, blacks being mixed with whites in profusion. Booker Washington and his board of trustees and faculty met Roosevelt. He entered a carriage made by the students of the school, drawn by horses raised at the school and was driven by a student in school uniform. The party proceeded to an elaborately decorated stand in front of the office building, surmounted by the President's flag, where the President spoke after a parade of the large body of students.

Couple Found Dead.
Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Elias Haffa and Dora, his wife, were found dead at their home here. Albert W. Berlis, a boarder with the old couple, was found in an unconscious condition and was taken to the hospital. Arsenic poisoning is suspected as the cause of the fatality. The case has a mysterious aspect. A son of the dead man has informed the police that Haffa and his wife frequently quarreled.

Cunliffe's Sanity Questioned.
Pittsburg, Oct. 24.—Friends of Edward G. Cunliffe, the express robber, are considering the advisability of petitioning the court to appoint a commission in lunacy to inquire into his sanity. They allege he is mentally deranged. All efforts to induce him to reveal the whereabouts of the $10,000 still missing have been unsuccessful.

INCREASED DEMAND

For More Paper Currency of Denominations of Tens and Under.

Washington, Oct. 24.—In his annual report for the fiscal year 1905, the treasurer of the United States says: "There is an increased demand for more paper currency of the denominations of $10 and under, owing to the expansion and development of the business interests of the country. The treasury has partially supplied the needs by redeeming and retiring notes of the larger denominations and issuing notes for smaller denominations in substitution therefor. The amount of United States paper currency in denominations of $10 and under outstanding June 30, 1905, was $730,182,179, an increase of $14,655,320 during the year. The total increase in these denominations from March 1, 1904, to June 30, 1905, was $167,186,321, or an average of a little more than $1,900,000 each year. The amount of United States paper currency of the denominations of $20 and above outstanding at the close of the fiscal year was about $91,000,000, exclusive of gold certificates. Under present conditions the presentation of these notes for redemption in future will be the only resource available to the treasury for supplying the demand for smaller denominations of currency.

"The coinage of silver dollars was discontinued during the year owing to the exhaustion of silver bullion available. The stock of this coin in the country June 30 last was $558,815,865, exclusive of $9,413,000 of such coin held in the treasury against outstanding treasury notes. The amount of silver dollars in circulation June 30, 1905, was $75,584,336, as against $71,313,826 12 months before. It is estimated that the maximum circulation of silver dollars has been reached. Total gold in treasury Oct. 19, 1905, amounted to $748,425,923, no other government having ever held so much."

COMPLAINT OF OIL COMPANIES

RAILWAY DISCRIMINATION IS AL-LEGED IN FAVOR OF THE STANDARD CO.

Ohio Witnesses Testify—Complaint
Filed Several Months Ago—The Hearing Adjourned.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 24.—A hearing has been commenced here by Messrs. Fifer and Prouty, interstate commerce commissioners, in connection with the complaint of unjust discrimination in rates filed by W. E. Wall, president of the Fred G. Clark Oil company, against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company. The Clark Oil company is said to be the largest producer of lubricating oil in existence outside of the Standard Oil company. The complaint was filed several months ago, and the burden of it is that it is impossible for the oil company to secure through rates to New England points on any products, which come in competition with the Standard Oil company.

P. H. Willock of the Waverly Oil company stated that he was positive that his company could flourish in the Connecticut districts were it allowed a prorata rate. He testified that division agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at Pittsburg would not furnish a through rate and would never furnish information as to why pro rata rates will not be extended to them. Mr. Willock explained that in many instances he had to wait so long for rates from division freight agents at Pittsburg that the business in New England was lost. Because of the inability to get information on tariffs, Mr. Willock said that his company had even stopped talking about the matter to the railroad companies.

The hearing was adjourned until Nov. 8 in this city. While fixing the time for the adjourned hearing, Commissioner Prouty said, among other things, that he thought the case ought to be argued before the whole commission at Washington, that it is "an important case and one involving vital principles."

STANDARD OIL MEN

Headed by Henry H. Rogers and J. D.
Archibald are Making a Tour of the Kansas Fields.

Independence, Kan., Oct. 24.—A party of Standard Oil officials, headed by Henry H. Rogers and John D. Archibald, arrived here and were met by many of the producers. After visiting Humboldt, Kan., they will proceed to Whiting, Ind., to inspect the refinery there. Members of the party announced that as a result of a study of the Kansas field it had been definitely decided to build another oil pipe line to Whiting at once at a cost of about $2,000,000.

FAVOR JEROME

Members of New York Bar Irrespective of Politics Have Formed an Organization for Him.

New York, Oct. 24.—Members of the New York bar, irrespective of politics in national and state affairs, have formed an organization favoring the re-election of William Travers Jerome as district attorney of New York county. In the organization are the only four men now living who have held the presidency of the bar association, Joseph H. Choate, William G. Choate, Joseph Laroque and John E. Parsons.

Perkins in St. Petersburg.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., and George W. Perkins were presented to Foreign Secretary Lamsdorff by Charge D'Affaires Eddy. It can be definitely stated that no industrial concessions will be granted in connection with the big Russian loan which is being negotiated. Each of the foreign banking groups will be on absolutely the same footing. The Americans do not seem to be particularly pleased with the terms offered by the Russian government. The extent of their participation is still problematical.

FOES OF CANAL UP AGAINST IT

President Roosevelt Declares the Waterway Will Be Built.

OPPONENTS' EFFORTS FUTILE

Efficient Navy Desired to Protect the Nation and the Big Ditch From Any Foreign Foe—Features of an Address in the South by the Chief Magistrate.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 24.—After having been tendered a magnificent ovation here, President Roosevelt left for Tuskegee, where he will address the students of Tuskegee institute. During the president's sojourn here there was a general closing of all business houses, and along the route of the procession from the Union depot to the Bienville square, where the reception ceremonies took place, the residences were covered with decorations of lights and bunting in the national colors. The sidewalks and streets along Government street were packed with humanity, and cheer after cheer rent the air. The president's address was well received by the large crowd. With reference to the Panama canal President Roosevelt said he did his best to bring about its completion for the benefit of the whole people, but particularly for the benefit of the gulf states. Originally he said he favored the Nicaragua route, but it was demonstrated that it must be the Panama canal or nothing; he favored the Panama route as he wanted to see a canal built, and one will be built. Notwithstanding the efforts of certain people who are striving by their circulation of false rumor or other methods to delay or defeat the construction of the canal, the president said they will be disappointed, for there is going to be a canal. Health conditions on the isthmus, he said, are better now than ever before.

In closing his address, President Roosevelt said: "If we build the canal we must protect it and police it ourselves. We must therefore bring up and keep up our navy to the highest point of efficiency. In the event of war, the American people must rely mainly upon its volunteer soldiers, and while it is comparatively a simple feat to quickly train a man to be a good soldier, you can neither improvise a battleship or the crew of a battleship. It is not necessary that we should have a particularly large navy, but it is necessary that, ship for ship, it should be a little the best in the world."

Canal May Be Built by Contract.
Washington, Oct. 24.—Secretary Taft made the following statement: "The question whether the Panama canal will be built by contract is not of course now possible to determine. Mr. Wallace, the former chief engineer of the canal, expressed a tentative opinion that probably much of the work, except the Culabra cut, could be let by contract. It is impossible, however, to make plans for this until the data are obtained, which are now being secured. I have not discussed the matter with Mr. Shonts or with Mr. Stevens, the chief engineer, because the question has not yet come up for settlement."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Mrs. James Russell Killed by Her Husband Who Then Fatally Wounded Himself.

Mountain Home, Ark., Oct. 24.—News reached here of the killing of Mrs. James Russell by her husband, who lives on Big creek, in the eastern part of Baxter county, Russell afterward shooting and fatally wounding himself. The tragedy grew out of a divorce suit, the wife having secured a divorce and the custody of the only child. When she presented the court's order for the child Russell shot her.

BISHOP HARTLEY RECEIVED BY POPE

Holiness Told Bishop That He Takes Special Interest in the Hungarians Here.

Rome, Oct. 24.—The pope received in private audience Bishop J. J. Hartley of Columbus, O., to whom he gave a large photograph of himself, autographed and appropriately inscribed. His holiness told the bishop that he took special interest in the large number of Hungarians living in the diocese. Private audiences also were granted Rev. Victor Day, vicar general of the diocese of Helena, Mont., and Rev. George W. Mundin, chancellor of the diocese of Brooklyn, N. Y. Notwithstanding the slight indisposition caused by a cold, the pope was in good spirits.

SCORE INJURED In Traction Collision at New Baltimore, Mich., This Morning

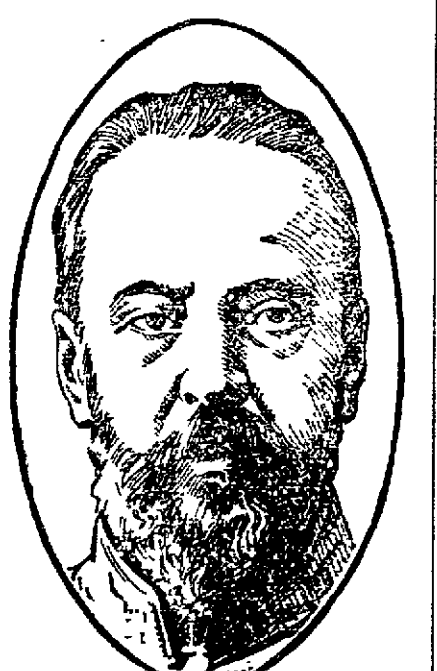

RAILS WET, WHEELS SLIPPED

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF PASSENGERS
FROM DEATH

Regular Car Running Forty Miles an Hour Crashed Into Work Train
Near a Switch.

New Baltimore, Mich., Oct. 24.—Twenty-five passengers were injured more or less seriously this morning when a passenger car on the Rapid Transit railway, in charge of Conductor North and Motorman Reno, crashed into a construction train, near the power house switch, east of this village. Local physicians relieved the sufferers. The construction train left the roundhouse for a switch, a distance of 40 rods, having five minutes to make the switch. The rails were wet and the wheels refused to move with regular speed. The construction train reached the switch at the time the regular was due, not having time to back in. Conductor Soica, of the work train, ran down the track with a red flag but it was too late. The regular, going 40 miles an hour, crashed into the work train with terrific force. The passenger car is a complete wreck. It is miraculous that the passengers escaped death.

COUNT WITTE TO BE MINISTER OF FINANCE

COUNT WITTE, RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVE AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

It is definitely announced in St. Petersburg today that Count Witte has been appointed minister of finance in the proposed new Russian cabinet.

WITTE PREMIER.

With Portfolio of Minister of Finance,
Runs the Report.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—It is persistently reported in the clubs and in government circles that the emperor has appointed Count Witte premier, with the portfolio of minister of finance. All the papers give prominence to the report. Since his return from the United States Count Witte has decidedly ranged himself on the side of the Liberals and has not only advocated complete liberty of speech, of the press and of assembly as a corollary of the coming duma, but has urged the extension of the powers of the duma along the lines demanded by the reformers as well as a broader franchise, so as to admit of fuller representation from the ranks of labor and the cultured classes.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN

GREETED ADMIRAL TOGO

Tokyo, Oct. 24.—William Jennings Bryan was a prominent figure in the reception to Admiral Togo. The American statesman was introduced to the fighting admiral by the mayor. The admiral was a very courteous and the enthusiasm of the thousands lining the streets from Shimbashi station to Ueno park was electric. Togo's carriage was decorated with flowers and he was greeted everywhere with almost the cordiality given the emperor on public appearances.

CONFRONTED BY FAMINE

Russian Poor Already Feel the Effects of the Great Strike.

TRANSPORTATION TIED UP

Minister of Railroads Vainly Appeals to the Strikers, Who Insist Upon Their Political Rights—Factory and Mill Hands Augment the Ranks of the Railroaders.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—The strike move is spreading rapidly to all the railroads of the empire, and apparently can not be stopped, while in many cities it is communicating itself to the mill and factory employes. The general strike in all branches of labor which the Socialists planned for the end of this year is seemingly bursting forth of its own volition. Minister of Finance Kokovsov received a telegram from the governing committee of the Moscow bourse which said that a continuation of the strike for a week longer would force every factory in the Moscow region to shut down owing to lack of coal, whether or not the factory hands took part in the strike. This condition of paralysis threatens all the trade and industry of Russia unless the strike is speedily settled. The inhabitants of Moscow are already feeling the effects of the strike in the increased prices of food, and they are even confronted by famine. As the demands of the men are purely political, it seems impossible to satisfy them by economic concessions.

Prince Hilikoff, minister of railroads, vainly appealed to the Moscow strikers on the basis of his own experiences in England and the United States, but he spoke to deaf ears. The men talked of nothing but their political rights, which, of course, the prince was powerless to grant. The situation is apparently at a deadlock, from which egress can only be had by the surrender of one side or, perhaps, the proclamation of martial law on the railroads.

Dispatches from Simbirsk, Saratoff, Vyarna, Poltava, Nizhni Novgorod, Kharkoff, Smolensk, Kiev, Elizabethgrad, Kazan and other railroad centers all over Russia announced the complete tying up of all transportation. The last link that bound Moscow, the commercial center of the empire, with the outer world was broken when the men on the Nicholas road, connecting Moscow with St. Petersburg, went on strike. The engineers shut off steam in their engines and Prince Hilikoff had great difficulty in obtaining a crew for the special train which brought him to St. Petersburg. Pathetic scenes are reported from Moscow, where thousands of the poorer inhabitants of the adjoining provinces have been awaiting for four days for trains to take them home. They are camping out near the railway stations and in the streets, and many of them are without money and the necessities of life.

TO SYRIAN QUARTER

Reserves From Three Police Precincts Called to Quell Riot in New York City.

New York, Oct. 24.—Reserves from three police precincts were hurriedly summoned to the lower end of the city to quell what threatened to be a serious riot in the Syrian quarter, where fights between the friends and opponents of Bishop Hawaweenie have been frequent of late. The bishop was arrested a few weeks ago charged with participating in a shooting affray in Brooklyn, and since then the Syrian quarter has been in a condition of chronic excitement. Before the police succeeded in clearing the streets half a dozen Syrians received cuts and stab wounds, none, however, of a serious character. Two Syrians were arrested, charged with inciting to riot.

LIFE SAVERS ARE MISSING FROM ERIE

Crew Went to Rescue of Steamer—No
News Yet From Kaliyuga in Michigan.

Erie, Pa., Oct. 24.—Much apprehension is felt today for the safety of the crew of the life saving station here and for persons aboard a steamer which left Erie last night flying signals of distress. Boats from the life saving station had not returned at noon today and no word had been received. Telephone inquiries at all points of the lake have been met with the reply that nothing had been seen of the life savers, boats or wreckage. A terrific gale was blowing when the boats put out. It is thought they may have been swamped before reaching the steamer. When the crew of the steamer was rescued of Lake Huron Pennsylvania, about four miles from shore. Captain Jonson of the life savers took with him eight members of the crew in two boats.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 24.—No report has been received up to noon today of the steamer Kaliyuga, which left Marquette just before the storm of last week. Fears are felt she may have gone down in the gale. She passed here Thursday. The vessel is an ore carrier and belongs to the St. Clair Steamship company, which has been telegraphing all over the lakes since Friday in hope of locating the boat, but so far no trace has been found. The east shore of Lake Huron is being scourged by the steamer Centurian and the Pontiac last night went out of Cleveland on the same mission. The Kaliyuga has 23 aboard.

ONLY NINETEEN YET A BIGAMIST

LIZZIE BEAR IS SENT UP FROM ALLEN COUNTY TO THE PENITENTIARY.

Young Woman Married Against Her
Will When She Was 14 and Married for Love Next Time.

Columbus, Oct. 24.—Lizzie Bear, only 19 years old, was received at the penitentiary yesterday from Allen county to serve a term of one and one-half years for bigamy.

When only 14 years of age she was forced by her mother to marry against her wish a man 35 years old. Her life with him was unhappy and she ran away from her home. A short time afterward she married a young man with whom she had been in love and was living happily with him when discovered by her first husband. She was tried and convicted of bigamy.

Among the prisoners received at the institution was a young man from Franklin sent up for shooting at a street car. When he gave his name to the clerk as Priest, he said that was all there was to it, and that he never had a first name. He is said to have an alias of "Hugh Scott."

OVER SON'S COFFIN

Herman Schultz Shot Himself in the Head, Being Crazy With Grief Over Death.

New York, Oct. 24.—Crazed with grief over the death of his son, who committed suicide with illuminating gas last week, Herman Schultz shot himself through the head while the funeral service was being read over the body of his son and fell prostrate across the coffin, dead. Mrs. Schultz and her three daughters fainted, and the funeral of the son was postponed both father and son might be buried together.

ROGERS CASE IS IN SUPREME COURT

Law Allowing Paupers to Docket
Without Cost Invoked in Behalf of Murderess Today.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The law which allows paupers to docket cases and print records in the United States Supreme court without cost was invoked today in behalf of Mrs. Mary Rogers, the Vermont murderess, through Attorney T. L. Jeffords. The counsel informed the court that Mrs. Rogers is a pauper. Chief Justice Fuller ordered Mrs. Rogers to be relieved of further expenses in the litigation. The case was set for November 6.

MISS ROOSEVELT

Regrets the Stories Circulated Regarding Her Trip.

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—In the record time of 10 days, 10 hours, 28 minutes the Pacific Mail Steamship company's liner Siberia arrived here direct from Yokohama, Japan.

There were many distinguished passengers on the Siberia, among them being Miss Alice Roosevelt and girl companions, United States Senator Newlands of Nevada and wife, United States Senator Warren of Wyoming, Representative Longworth of Ohio, Brigadier General H. T. Allen, chief of the Philippine constabulary, and E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific company.

"All the presents that arrived are merely inexpensive mementoes of the trip, such as any one traveling in strange countries would receive," said the president's daughter. "There was really nothing so remarkable about my trip, and I can not understand why so much fuss was made about it. I had an exceptionally fine time and enjoyed every moment that I was away. The only thing that I regret is that so many nonsensical stories were circulated regarding me."

Justice of the Peace Daniel T. Kelly, of Beachwoodborough, a Pittsburgher, was in the city today.

ACTUARY

Of Mutual Life a Witness
Before Committee
Today

GETS ONLY $25,000 A YEAR

M'CLINTOCK GIVES OPINION OF ASSESSMENT COMPANIES

As Members Grow Old Bad Risks Remain While Good Risks are Forced Out by Higher Rates.

New York, Oct. 24.—Emory McClintock, actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance company was a witness today before the legislative insurance investigating committee. President McCurdy, while testifying last week frequently refused to answer on the ground that the actuary possessed the knowledge desired. Among the questions which McCurdy declined to answer was why the company's dividends began to shrink ever since McCurdy became president. While the dividends decreased McCurdy's salary arose from $30,000 to $150,000.

McClintock said he received $25,000 a year. The witness spoke at much length of the life insurance companies, which failed in the period from 1861 to 1871, and recited the reasons for their failure. The Metropolitan weathered the storm but was later on the point of going to pieces when it began an industrial business. The defunct companies, McClintock testified, were able to continue business for some time because of the lack of strict examination of assets and liabilities by the state insurance department. From the wreckage of the failures in 1870 and 1871 new methods of getting and handling business were evolved, he said.

The crash came when the state passed a reserve requirement law and then enforced it. Because of the large assets of the Mutual, New York Life and Equitable, they were not seriously affected. The reserve requirement law, added McClintock, prevented the formation of many new companies. The English law required no reserve. Less laws and more publicity under the direction of the state was what was wanted, said McClintock. He did not, however, dissent from the opinion of Counsel McKean that the present laws prevented the springing up of mushroom insurance companies which might do much damage before publicity could correct the evils.

McClintock was asked to give his opinion as an actuary of assessment companies. He said in brief that as the members grew older the bad risks remained, while the good risks were forced out by the increased assessments. In differentiating between a fraternal order and a purely assessment company, McClintock said in effect that it was a matter of social union and friendship. In a fraternal organization the members, rather than give up the lodge meetings and the social features of the order, paid the increased assessments. In a purely assessment company the members simply dropped out.

"I pointed out in an article once written by me that if each member of the House of Lords paid an assessment when a member died it would be an example of an excellent fraternal organization, for no one would resign from the House of Lords."

McClintock said his knowledge for the present fraternal organization was purely external, as their business had never interfered in the slightest with the big life insurance companies.

STATE IS PROTECTED

This is Belief of Treasurer Matthews
Who Visits Office for First Time
Since the Failure.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 24.—State Treasurer Matthews was at his office for the first time since the failure of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, in which more than $1,000,000 of public funds were deposited. He said that at the time of the failure there was $1,000,000 of state's money in the bank, of which $700,000 belonged to the general fund and the balance to the sinking fund. Asked about securities furnished by bank to protect the state from any loss in case of failure of the bank, Mr. Matthews said he had every reason to believe that the state was amply protected.

Four carloads of potato bunches were shipped from St. Louis, Mo., to Philadelphia, Pa., today.

NO SINECURE

No. 7 of the Series

(Copyright, 1901, by Charles Scribner's Sons.)

AM still uncertain which surprised me more, the telegram calling my attention to the advertisement or the advertisement itself. The telegram is before me as I write. It would appear to have been handed in at Vere street at 8 o'clock in the morning of May 11, 1897, and received before half past at Holloway B. O. And in the drab region it duly found me, unwashed, but at work before the day grew hot and my attic insupportable.

See Mr. Maturin's advertisement Daily Mail might suit you earnestly beg try will speak if necessary.

I transcribe the thing as I see it before me, all in one breath that took away mine, but I leave out the initials at the end, which completed the surprise. They stood very obviously for the knighted specialist whose consulting room is within a cab whistle of Vere street, and who once called me kinsman for his sins. More recently he had called me other names. I was a disgrace, qualified by an adjective which seemed to me another. I had made my bed and I could go and lie and die in it. If I ever again had the insolence to show my nose in that house I should go out quicker than I came in. All this and more my least distant relative could tell a poor devil to his face, could ring for his man and give him his brutal instructions on the spot, and then return to the tune of this telegram! I have no phrase for my amazement. I literally could not believe my eyes. Yet their evidence was more and more conclusive: a very epistle could not have been more characteristic of his sender. Meantime elliptical, indifferently precise, saving half-pence at the expense of sense, yet paying like a man for "Mr." Maturin, that was my distinguished relative from his bald patch to his ears, nor was all the rest unlike him, upon second thought. He had a reputation for charity: he was going to live up to it after all. Either that or it was the sudden impulse of which the most calculating are capable at times: the morning papers with the early cup of tea, this advertisement seen by chance and the rest upon the spur of a guilty conscience.

AT A TOUCH A PACKAGE OF CIGARETTES TUMBLED DOWN FROM BEHIND.

Well, I must see it for myself, and the sooner the better, though work pressed. I was writing a series of articles upon prison life and had my nib into the whole system. A literary and philanthropic daily was publishing my "charges," the graver ones with the more gusto, and the letters, if unhandsome for creative work, were temporary wealth to me. It so happened that my first check had just arrived by the 8 o'clock post, and my position should be appreciated when I say that I had to cash it to obtain a Daily Mail.

Of the advertisement itself what is to be said? It should speak for itself if I could find it, but I cannot, and only remember that it was a "male nurse and constant attendant" that was "wanted for an elderly gentleman in feeble health." A male nurse! An absurd idea was suggested of offering a liberal salary to university or public were men with coats on their backs and ladies in gloves. My only fear was lest I might run up against one or other whom I had known of old. But it was my lucky day. I felt it in my bones. I was going to get this berth, and sometimes I should be able to smell the wood pavement on the old boy's errands. Perhaps he would in set on skimming over it in his bath chair with me behind.

I felt quite nervous when I reached the flats. They were a small pile in a side street, and I pitied the doctor whose plate I saw upon the pathing before the ground floor windows; he must be in a very small way, I thought. I rather pitied myself as well. I had indulged in visions of better flats than these. There were no balconies; the porter was out of livery; there was no lift, and my invalid on the third floor! I trudged up, wishing I had never lived in Mount street, and brushed against a dejected individual coming down. A full blooded young fellow in a frock coat flung the right door open at my summons.

"Does Mr. Maturin live here?" I inquired.

"That's right," said the full blooded young man, grinning all over a convivial countenance.

"I—I've come about his advertisement in the Daily Mail."

"You're the thirty-ninth," cried the blood. "That was the thirty-eighth you met upon the stairs, and the day's still young. Excuse my staring at you, yes, you pass your profile, and can come inside; you're one of the few. We had most just after breakfast, but now the porter's heading off the worst cases, and that last chap was the first for twenty minutes. Come in here."

And I was ushered into an empty room with a good bay window, which enabled my full blooded friend to inspect me yet more critically in a good light. This he did without the least false delicacy. Then his questions began.

"Varsity man?"

"No."

"Public school?"

"Yes."

"Which one?"

I told him, and he sighed relief.

"At last! You're the very first I've not had to argue with as to what is and what is not a public school. Expelled?"

"No," I said after a moment's hesitation; "no, I was not expelled, and I hope you won't expel me if I ask a question in my turn?"

"Certainly not."

"Are you Mr. Maturin's son?"

"No, my name's Theobald. You may have seen it down below."

"The doctor?" I said.

"His doctor," said Theobald, with a satisfied eye. "Mr. Maturin's doctor. He is having a male nurse and attendant by my advice, and he wants a gentleman if he can get one. I rather think he'll see you, though he's only seen two or three all day. There are certain questions which he prefers to ask himself, and it's no good going over the same ground twice. So perhaps I had better tell him about you before we get any further."

And he withdrew to a room still nearer the entrance, as I could hear, for it was a very small flat indeed. But now two doors were shut between us, and I had to rest content with murmurs through the wall until the doctor returned to summon me.

"I have persuaded my patient to see you," he whispered, "but I confess I am not sanguine of the result. He is very difficult to please. You must prepare yourself for a querulous in valid and for no sinecure if you get the billet."

"May I ask what's the matter with him?"

"By all means—when you've got the billet."

Dr. Theobald then led the way, his professional dignity so thoroughly intact that I could not but smile as I followed his swinging coat tails to the sickroom. I carried no smile across the threshold of a darkened chamber which reeked of drugs and twinkled with medicine bottles and in the middle of which a gaunt figure lay abed in the half light.

"Take him to the window, take him to the window," a thin voice snapped, "and let's have a look at him. Open the blind a bit. Not as much as that, dash you, not as much as that!"

The doctor took the oath as though it had been a fee. I no longer pitied him. It was now very clear to me that he had one patient who was a little practice in himself. I determined there and then that he should prove a little profession to me if we could but keep him alive between us. Mr. Maturin, however, had the whitest face that I have ever seen, and his teeth gleamed out through the dusk as though the withered lips no longer met about them, nor did they except in speech, and anything ghastlier than the perpetual grin of his repose I defy you to imagine. It was with this grin that he lay regarding me while the doctor held the blind.

"So you think you could look after me, do you?"

"I'm certain I could, sir."

"Single handed, mind! I don't keep another soul. You would have to cook your own grub and my slops. Do you think you could do all that?"

"Yes, sir; I think so."

"Why do you? Have you any experience of the kind?"

"No, sir, none."

"Then why do you pretend you have?"

"I only meant that I would do my best."

"Only meant, only meant! Have you done your best at everything else, then?"

I hung my head. This was a faeer. And there was something in my invalid which thrust the unspoken lie down my throat.

"No, sir, I have not," I told him plainly.

"He, he," the old wretch tittered. "And you do well to own it; you do well, sir, very well indeed. If you hadn't owned up you would have gone out neck and crop! You've saved your bacon. You may do more. So you are a public school boy, and a very good school yours is, but you weren't at either university. Is that correct?"

"Absolutely."

"What did you do when you left school?"

"I came in for money."

"And then?"

"I spent my money."

"And since then?"

I stood like a mule.

"And since then, I say!"

"A relative of mine will tell you if you ask him. He is an eminent man and he has promised to speak for me. I would rather say no more myself."

"But you shall, sir, but you shall! Do you suppose that I suppose a public school boy would apply for a berth like this if something or other hadn't happened? What I want is a gentleman of sorts, and I don't much care what sort, but you've got to tell me what did happen if you don't tell anybody else. Dr. Theobald, sir, you can go to the devil if you won't take a hint. This man may do or he may not. You have no more to say to it till I send him down to tell you one thing or the other. Clear out, sir, clear out, and if you think you've anything to complain of you stick it down in the bill!"

In the mild excitement of our interview the thin voice had gathered strength, and the last shrill insult was repeated after the devoted medical aid he retired in such order that I felt certain he was going to take this trying patient of his word. The bedroom door closed, then the outer one, and the doctor's heels went drumming down the common stair. I was alone in the flat with this highly singular and rather terrible old man.

"And a dashed good riddance!" croaked the invalid, raising himself on one elbow without delay. "I may not have much body left to boast about, but at least I've got a lost old soul to tell my own. That's why I want a gentleman of sorts about me. I've been too dependent on that chap. He won't even let me smoke, and he's been in the flat all day to see I didn't. You'll find the cigarettes behind the Madonna of the Chair."

It was a steel engraving of the great Raphael, and the frame was tilted from the wall. At a touch a packet of cigarettes tumbled down from behind.

"Thanks. And now a light."

I struck the match and held it, while the invalid inhaled with normal lips, and suddenly I sighed. I was irresistibly reminded of my poor, dear old Raffles. A smoke ring worthy of the great A. J. was floating upward from the sick man's lips.

"And now take one yourself. I have smoked more poisonous cigarettes, but even these are not Sullivan's."

I cannot repeat what I said. I have no idea what I did. I only know—I only knew—that it was A. J. Raffles in the flesh!

*****

"Yes, Bunny, it was the very devil of a swim, but I defy you to sink in the Mediterranean. That sunset saved me. The sea was on fire. I hardly swam under water at all, but went all I knew for the sun itself. When it set I must have been a mile away; until it did I was the invisible man. I figured on that, and only hope it wasn't set down as a case of suicide. I shall get out of this soon enough, Bunny, but I'd rather be dropped by the hangman than throw my own wicked away."

"Oh, my dear old chap, to think of having you by the hand again! I feel as though we were both aboard that German liner and all that's happened since a nightmare. I thought that time was the last!"

"It looked rather like it, Bunny. It was taking all the risks and hitting at everything. But the game came off, and some day I'll tell you how."

"Oh, I'm in no hurry to hear. It's enough for me to see you lying there. I don't want to know how you came there, or why, though I fear you must be pretty bad. I must have a good look at you before I let you speak another word!"

I raised one of the blinds, I sat upon the bed and I had that look. It left me all unable to conjecture his true state of health, but quite certain in my own mind that my dear Raffles was not and never would be the mah that he had been. He had aged twenty years; he looked fifty at the very least. His hair was white; there was no trick about that, and his face was another white. The lines about the corners of the eyes and mouth were both many and deep. On the other hand, the eyes themselves were slight and alert as ever; they were still keen and gray and gleaming, like finely tempered steel. Even the mouth, with a cigarette to close it, was the mouth of Raffles and no other—strong and unscrupulous as the man himself. It was only the physical strength which appeared to have departed, but that was quite sufficient to make my heart bleed for the dear rascal who had cost me every tie I valued by the tie between us two.

"Think I look much older?" he asked at length.

"A bit," I admitted, "but it is chiefly your hair."

"Whereby hangs a tale for when we've talked ourselves out, though I have often thought it was that long swim that started it. Still, the island of Elba is a rummy show, I can assure you. And Naples is a rummer."

"You went there after all?"

"Rather! It's the European paradise for such as our noble selves. But there's no place that's a patch on little London as a nonconductor of heat; it never need get too hot for a fellow here. If it does it's his own fault. It's the kind of racket you don't get out on unless you get yourself out. So here I am again and have been for the last six weeks, and I mean to have another knock."

"But surely, old fellow, you're not awfully fit, are you?"

"Fit? My dear Bunny, I'm dead—I'm at the bottom of the sea—and don't you forget it for a minute."

"But are you all right or are you not?"

"No, I'm half poisoned by Theobald's prescriptions and putrid cigarettes and as weak as a cat from lying in bed."

"Then why on earth lie in bed, Raffles?"

"Because it's better than lying in jail, as I'm afraid you know, my poor dear fellow. I tell you I am dead, and my one terror is of coming to life again by accident. Can't you see? I simply dare not show my nose out of doors—by day. You have no idea of the number of perfectly innocent things a dead man doesn't do. I can't even smoke Sullivan's, because no one man was ever so partial to them as I was in my lifetime, and you never know when you may start a clew."

"What brought you to these man-sions?"

"I fancied a flat, and a man recommended the one on the boat. Such a good chap, Bunny! He was my reference when it came to signing the lease. You see, I landed on a stretch—most pathetic case: old Australian without a friend in old country: ordered Eugene as best chance; he got not an earthly sentimental wish to die in London—that's the history of Mr. Maturin. If it doesn't hit you hard, Bunny, you're the first. But if my friend Theobald's hardest of all. I'm an income to him. I believe he's going to marry on me."

ABANDONMENT OF OHIO CANAL

AT LEAST THAT PORTION OF IT WHICH PASSES THROUGH NEWARK.

Urged Representative Men of Newark at a Meeting Held on Monday Afternoon.

*****

At last a number of leading citizens of Newark are about to take action looking to the abandonment of that part of the Ohio Canal in the central part of Newark. An effort will be made to have the state authorities act. The men will meet all objections to the proposition and they offer a good solution of the problem. The waterway as it is, is a nuisance, and should be abandoned. A good street in place of the canal will look better and will be of great value to the people of Newark.

*****

The question of abandoning that part of the Ohio Canal which passes through Newark, at least that part of it in the central part of the city, is again to the fore.

That this old-time water way, long since a back number, is an eyesore to the people of Newark, there is no question; but shall it be improved or abandoned? All will agree that in its present condition it is a menace to health and an unsightly thing.

It having been disclosed that an effort is on foot to obtain a lease from the state for the purpose of building structures over this water way in the central part of the city as was recently done in East Main street over the old canal feeder, the owners of property abutting on the canal have taken action protesting against leasing said portion of the canal and urging the State board to abandon this part of the canal and converting it into a street.

A meeting of a large number of citizens was held Monday afternoon in the city council chamber. Mr. W. H. Smith being made chairman and Mr. Edward Thomas secretary of the meeting.

The chairman stated that whereas it has been learned that certain parties were endeavoring to lease that portion of the canal lying between First and Sixth streets with the object of boarding it over and erecting thereon a structure to be used for market or other purposes, which if carried out would be unsightly and a menace to the health of the public, and that if anything be done with that part of the canal running through Newark, it should not be for the profit of private parties, but should be turned into a street for the benefit of all the people of the city, it was deemed proper to call this meeting to take some steps looking to that end.

It was moved and seconded that a committee of five citizens be appointed to confer with the Board of Public Works, and the Ohio Canal Commissioner, to ascertain on what terms the State would agree to turn over to the county and city that part of the Ohio Canal lying within the City of Newark. The motion prevailed, and the Chair appointed as such committee, Messrs. George B. Sprague, Edward Thomas, David Brown, Fred Lisey and Frank Felix.

It was moved and seconded that the above committee be instructed to ask the City Council to appoint a committee of the Council to act with them, including the City Solicitor and Mr. J. P. Lamb of the Board of Public Service; that the County Commissioners be asked to appoint a committee to act with them including the Prosecuting Attorney; that the Board of Trade be requested to appoint a committee to act with them including its president. The motion was carried.

It was moved and seconded that the whole committee as above constituted take such steps as it may deem necessary to protect the county and city in controlling the land covered by the Ohio Canal in the City of Newark to public use. The motion prevailed.

On motion, the secretary of this meeting was instructed to write to each candidate for State Senator and each candidate for Representative, now up for election, and ask each one of them to reply in writing as to whether he will, if elected, protect the city and county, rather than any individual or company in any matter that may come before the Legislature with reference to that part of the canal running through the City of Newark.

On motion a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Lamb and the Board of Public Service for the use of the Council Chamber for the meeting. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, Mr. W. H. Smith.

Objection may be raised by the state board to the abandonment of this part of the canal on the ground that it is now obtaining considerable revenue through the sale of soft water to manufacturers, laundries and others. Those interested in the abandonment suggest that the water may be piped from the canal at the west end of the city and the state retain its revenue. It is pointed out that to build structures over the waterway and permit the canal water to pass under buildings would be unsanitary and would render this stagnant water even a greater menace to the public health than it now is.

The men who have taken up this subject are much in earnest about it and they are enlisting the sympathy of a great many citizens. The matter will soon be brought to the attention of the state board and every effort will be made to secure favorable action.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS.

The Wiles-Erman Co. Tells of the Remarkable Success of Pepsikola Tablets in Relieving Indigestion.

After selling all kinds of remedies for dyspepsia and indigestion we can truthfully say that we never knew anything to give such universal satisfaction as Pepsikola Tablets. They not only aid digestion but they act as a grand nerve tonic as well. Many Newark people who have not enjoyed a good meal for years now say that after using one or two 25 cent boxes of these little tablets they feel as if they could eat a horse and digest it too.

The Wiles-Erman Drug Co. has been recommending this grand dyspepsia remedy for nearly two years now, and from actual experience knows there is no other remedy so sure to relieve sour stomach, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, palpitation, sleeplessness, wind belching, and other distressing symptoms of indigestion. And Pepsikola Tablets must cure you or there is nothing to pay. They will renew your energy, steady your nerves, regulate the action of your heart, improve your appetite, put new life in your stomach, and will do more to tone up and improve your general health than anything you ever heard of.

IS THE STRANGER CHARLES LEWIS?

PATIENT AT THE SANITARIUM GIVES NAME IN HIS DELIRIUM.

Telephone Message Brings Relatives From Bellaire Tonight to Identify the Man.

"Hello! Who is talking? This is Charley Lewis at this end." A conversation after the above style was heard from the ward of the stranger who has been confined to the Newark Sanitarium for a week, suffering with mental trouble. It furnished the first clue as to his probable identity and a message from Bellaire partly confirms this suspicion.

The manager of the Sanitarium communicated with the chief of police at Bellaire Tuesday afternoon and learned that a Charles Lewis of that city had been missing from his home some time, and from the description furnished, the Bellaire relatives were well enough satisfied that their man had been found to send a relative to Newark to make sure.

Lewis' father or father-in-law will arrive in Newark tonight and will visit the Sanitarium to identify if possible the patient. He is evidently an educated man, as he talked about having trouble with his books in his first night's delirium.

WHY IS TRACK BEING REMOVED?

It looks as though the State Encampment ground is about to be abandoned by the O. N. G. for rifle practice. For several days workmen have been tearing up the side track leading from the main line of the interurban road. Manager Harrigan says that the T. and O. C. company has notified him that no more cars from its line will be transferred over the interurban, and for that reason he is having the track taken up. This in connection with the complaints that have been made by farmers regarding the promiscuous shooting by soldiers, gives rise to the rumor that there will be no more target practice here. Nothing official is given out by the adjutant general.

YELLOW METAL

Soon to Enter into General Circulation in Mexico.

City of Mexico, Oct. 24.—There is a good prospect of gold money entering soon into general circulation, the exchange commission having ordered the mint to put in circulation the newly coined 5 and 10-peso pieces by exchanging them for the old gold coins. These newer coins were struck under the monetary reform plan. Probably early next year the new gold coins will be issued in exchange for silver. This will be the consummation of the monetary reform which has practically established the gold standard here. It is now many years since gold was in active circulation in this country.

The Remedy for Coxism.

The people all over Ohio who were taken by surprise at the remarkable speech of Secretary Taft at Akron, are all coming to about the same conclusion in regard to the source of the inspiration for the assault on Boss George B. Cox. That the Secretary reflected the sentiment of President Roosevelt in his arraignment of Cox is the belief of men of all parties. It is also a complete justification and vindication of all that has been said by the Democrats in the campaign. That the Secretary tells the absolute truth regarding Cox bossism is accepted on all sides. His only weakness is his failure to propose the necessary remedy. There is but one way to de-throne Cox and eradicate the blight of his bossism from Ohio politics. There are thousands of Republicans as well as Democrats who know and realize what the remedy is and that the opportunity for that remedy is afforded the people of Ohio in this campaign. That remedy is the defeat of Herrick. The thousands of Republicans who properly realize this fact propose to apply the remedy when they vote on November 7.

Democratic Deputies.

The American-Tribune should handle the deputy question more carefully. If it doesn't watch out it will make the Democrats so mad they will refuse to serve as deputies for Republican officeholders and then these officials will have trouble in conducting their respective offices. Licking county political history for several years past has showed that every Republican county office holder has retained a Democratic deputy to tell him how to run the office.

People who attempt to keep track of the Republican desertions of Candidate Herrick are certain to become dizzy, and on this account we gave it up long ago. Huron and Var Wert county Republicans have protested against the Governor's appearance last he drive away the few "standbys" who still hang on; prominent Republicans have taken the stump against him, while many others are talking "right out in meeting" as they pass along among their neighbors. And then there are others—lots of them.

Secretary Taft and Geo. B. Cox.

Secretary of War Taft in his great campaign speech at Akron, Saturday, said this of the condition of things under George B. Cox:

"The condition is one of absolute helplessness on the part of many independent Republicans seeking to take part in politics, and to act independently of themselves, and the distressing effect is now seen upon all the young men, ambitious politically, as it either drives them out of politics and deprives the public of their probable valuable service, or if they get into politics, they must subordinate themselves to the tyranny of the boss. It is the condition of affairs—a local despotism, much to be deplored—and if I had thought that by speaking and supporting Governor Herrick tonight I should be doing anything for the perpetuation of the power of the Cox machine in Cincinnati, or if I had thought that Governor Herrick had entered into the corrupt bargain with Cox, as charged, I should not be here. But the truth is, my fellow citizens, that this machine, if it is to be broken up, must be broken by the voters of Cincinnati and Hamilton county, themselves."

Every decent citizen in Ohio will agree with Secretary Taft in his arraignment of George B. Cox—except Governor Herrick himself, who has publicly said that George B. Cox is a great and good man, of whose friendship he is proud. But we know of no citizen of Ohio who will agree with Secretary Taft's proposition that the Cox machine must be broken up by the citizens of Hamilton county alone. For the people of Ohio know that that is too big a proposition for Hamilton county alone to settle. The citizens of Ohio know, irrespective of party, that the power of the Cox machine has extended beyond Hamilton county until it ramifies and controls the Republican politics of the whole state. They know that the Cox machine controlled and dictated the election of Senator Dick and the nomination of Governor Herrick, and for that reason thousands of independent Republicans in Ohio are going to vote against Governor Herrick next month.

The A. T. Side Editor.

Though court is in session, this does not appear to be Attorney Gil C. Daugherty's busy season. That Mr. Daugherty has resumed his side line and that he is dipping his pen into the editorial ink pot there is no question.

The effusion appearing in the columns of the esteemed American-Tribune of yesterday bears his unmistakable earmarks, and the author did not need to sign his name to this article to make his identity more certain.

Mr. Daugherty has before figured in this editorial capacity and the result has always been highly satisfactory to the Democrats. Let Mr. Daugherty go on with his personal abuse of Democrats and it will simply mean increased majorities for the whole Democratic ticket.

The Advocate deplors the personal abuse that the A-T. through its side editor is injecting into the campaign, but it believes itself too wise to retaliate by attacking the Republican candidates, though this can be done with equal force and equal justice. The Advocate believes the Democratic candidates will be elected on their merits, not by making mean insinuations or personal flings at their opponents.

One Speech More Than Enough.

The one speech of Secretary Taft in the Ohio campaign, was more than enough to confirm the majority of the people of Ohio in their determination to retire Governor Herrick and elect John M. Pattison in his stead.

It has been estimated that there were 200,000 Republicans who were in some doubt as to whether it was their duty to vote against Myron T. Herrick and a boss machine legislature. Secretary Taft's speech resolved the doubt and pointed out to

TO DISLodge GEO. B. COX

The People of Ohio Must First Overthrow His Republican State Machine—Cox is the Greatest Integral Part of That Machine, and They Must Go Down Together.

The state political correspondent of the Enquirer in commenting on Secretary Taft's arraignment of Cox in his Akron speech, says:

"Attorney General Ellis in a speech at Columbus last winter, toasted Geo. B. Cox as the strongest force in the Republican councils of the state. In one of his many open letters Senator Charles Dick, as chairman of the Republican state executive committee, defended Cox and gave him a certificate of good character. Lieutenant Governor Harding has adopted the same course, and has taken occasion to hold up the corrupt machine, which Secretary Taft denounces, as a model for the Republican organizations everywhere to copy. I believe he called Cox the 'schoolmaster of practical politics.' At Atlanta last Thursday President Roosevelt said: 'There are men who use the phrase practical politics as merely a euphemism for dirty politics. It is such men who have brought the word politician into discredit.'"

"None of these gentlemen at any time or in any place ever admitted the duty of voting for Mr. Pattison and for members of the legislature in the foreheads of whom the boss has not 'written his number.'"

The great Secretary's speech was a most adroit and ingenious special plea for Herrick, whom he had not the cruelty of heart to openly oppose. Hence he devoted all his scathing denunciations to Boss Cox of Cincinnati, giving him what was intended to go all the way up and down the line, from the head to the tail of the ticket.

"Smash the Boss and all his works, but spare Herrick." This is the burden of Secretary Taft's speech. "If I were in Cincinnati on the day of election I would not vote for the Cox machine ticket," he fervently exclaimed, for which all good men, Republicans and Democrats alike, thank him.

The Boss and his works ought to be smashed. That is what the people are rolling up their sleeves for. In 1903, he sent orders to the Republican state convention to nominate certain candidates for office, beginning with Myron T. Herrick at the head, and then Mr. Cox put the gang Hamilton county ticket on as a superfine tail. Mr. Cox considered the work he did in 1903 as being "very good," and he repeated it in 1905, again ordering the Republican state convention, presided over by Secretary Taft, to renominate the same ticket. "Smash the Boss and all his works!" is the bugle call of Secretary William H. Taft to all the people of Ohio without regard to politics.

"Remember the case of old dog Tray." "A man is known by the company he keeps." "The tree is known by its fruit." These are the luminous sentences that glow through the lines of the Secretary's excusatory sentences devoted to Governor Myron Timothy Herrick. "Smash the Boss and all his works." We know that President Roosevelt indorses this comprehensive sentiment, if, indeed, he did not send his Secretary to Ohio to specially deliver the great message.

The American-Tribune gave County Commissioner Graham a gorgeous write up on Monday and adorned the eulogy with a picture of Commissioner J. M. Lambert who was duly labeled "John S. Graham." Up to date no libel suit has been filed but it is said that Mr. Graham feels hurt as he regards himself a much handsomer man than the picture would indicate.

It is evident that we will have to carry our burden in the Philippine for some time to come. Members of the Taft party report that the natives are not satisfied with our rule, but are afraid of our soldiers. Consequently they really view us as enemies, and not as friends, which the imperialists claim we are. It is said that there was general regret among the congressmen who visited the islands that we had ever undertaken to be responsible for their future.

truth concerning George B. Cox and his machine, which Secretary Taft has so forcibly expressed. "But Secretary Taft says that this machine must be broken up, if it is to be broken up, by the voters of Cincinnati and Hamilton county. Is not Secretary Taft aware that Mr. Cox, through his absolute control of every department of the body politic, judicial, legislative and executive, and through his complete domination of the election machinery, has made this a well-nigh impossible task? Aided by men whose duty should be to enforce the law and keep clean the ballot box, George B. Cox has erected a bulwark of fraudulent voters about his citadel. It is all very well for Mr. Taft to tell the people of Cincinnati to free themselves. He might as well tell a man with his throat cut to cry for help. The state machine of Ohio stands back of Cox and his domination of Cincinnati, and as a step toward dislodging him the people of Ohio must first overthrow the state machine. Cox is the greatest integral part of that machine, and they must go down together."

REASONS

Given By Dr. Garrison, a Life Long Republican, For Voting Democratic Ticket This Year.

Dr. G. W. Garrison, one of Licking county's staunch Republicans, sends to The Advocate the following letter telling why he will vote for the Democratic candidate for governor on November 7:

Utica, O., Oct. 23.—I beg to submit and the following as my political faith and practice.

I have voted for eleven presidents, to-wit: A. Lincoln, U. S. Grant (twice), R. B. Hayes, J. A. Garfield, James G. Blaine, Benjamin Harrison (twice), Wm. McKinley (twice), and lastly, greater than all, I voted for Theodore Roosevelt. Total, 11.

During the same time I have voted for every Republican nominee for governor of Ohio, except John Brough. I was away then attending medical lectures at Ann Arbor, Mich. Among my reasons for not supporting our present governor this fall are: The office has made him odious to the sacredness of home and the church. In this particular he has not divorced himself from the saloon's influence, so prevalent in this, the best state of the Union.

When first elected, the saloons of Ohio contributed $25,000 to aid his election to the high office. This he has not denied during this campaign. Again, all saloonists that I have heard express themselves this fall are pledged to vote for the present incumbent. Again, our governor is a member of the Church of Christ, and as such he did pledge himself by a solemn vow to his people to keep the Ten Commandments and denounce sin in all of its forms, etc. The saloons of Ohio are lined up against the Fourth Commandment to a man, i. e., the sacredness of the Sabbath day. Hence the saloon has no party affiliations, but gives support to the man who will not abridge or hinder its business from past record. Every voter knows full well that our present governor is not in sympathy with any genuine temperance legislation and has interfered with pending temperance measures during the last winter's legislative assembly, by threatening his veto unless the bill suited him. Therefore I must decline for giving my support to the present incumbent and will vote for John M. Pattison. The issue of the campaign is a moral one, to-wit: THE HOMES, THE CHURCH VS. THE SALOON.

Stand up, voters of Ohio, on November 7, 1905, and be counted for temperance and civil righteousness.

Respectfully,
G. W. GARRISON, M. D.

GREETING

And Felicitation Sent to Secretary of War Taft by the Democrats of Akron.

Akron, O., Oct. 24.—At a meeting last night of the Summit county Democratic committee a greeting was formulated and forwarded to Secretary William H. Taft. In it the Democrats say: "The Democrats of Senator Chas. Dick's home county congratulate you for your fearless exposure of bossism in Hamilton county and your denunciation of George B. Cox. We are convinced that at least 200,000 voters who cast their ballots for Theodore Roosevelt, understanding the relations between Cox and Herrick, will remove all possibility of the continued influence of Cox in state politics by electing John M. Pattison."

KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED.

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propagates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalps of these same men once become infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Cheated Death.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, since, as I find they have no equal." Hall, the druggist, guarantees them at 50c.

OLGA NETHERSOLE IS BACK AGAIN

ACTRESS REAPPEARS IN "THE LABYRINTH" AFTER THREE YEARS' ABSENCE.

Play is an Argument Against Divorce. Olga's Role is Full of Emotional Intensity.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Olga Nethersole made her reappearance in America last night after an absence of over three years, inaugurating her tour at the New National theatre with the first performance of "The Labyrinth," an English version of Paul Hervieu's French drama, "Le Dédale." The house was crowded, the audience including the French ambassador, M. Jusserand and his suite, who attended in a body in honor of their countryman, the author of the play; a contingent from the British embassy and other diplomatic representatives.

The play is an argument against divorce, when there are children of the marriage. Miss Nethersole's role is that of Marianne de Pognis, twice married, once divorced.

Influenced by her child, Marianne succumbs to her first husband's efforts at reconciliation and then overcomes by remorse, abandons both him and her present husband, declaring she will thereafter live only for her child. Her farewell when the two men meet face to face, furnished a thrilling denouement. Miss Nethersole's role was full of emotional intensity.

PREACHING TONIGHT

The Rev. Father McEachen, who will preach tonight at St. Francis de Sales church, is in many respects a remarkable man. A little over a decade of years ago he left the coal mines of his native town, Shawnee, Ohio, where he had worked and experienced from his early boyhood all the hardships and many of the accidents of the mines, and today he has charge of a congregation of over three thousand souls with ten different foreign tongues with which he is familiar, and most of which he can speak fluently. He will speak on the threadbare subject of "Temperance," and it might be a good thing for the workmen of this city to hear him. All are invited to attend who can come.

Fr. McEachen is a brilliant man who educated himself, largely through his own efforts. He wrote "The Life of Christ" while in college and in this way secured funds to complete his thorough education. While traveling in Europe he made a study of language and he now speaks ten tongues fluently.

MORE TROUBLE IN WEST END

WAR'ANTS ISSUED FOR ARREST OF MEN SAID TO BE IMPLICATED.

Clem Hartsock a Polisher Can Not Be Located—Assault and Capture Are Alleged.

Another violent outbreak occurred in the West End on Monday night between the union and nonunion polishers. Three men, George W. Webb of Centerburg, Clarence Hoover and Clem Hartsock of Johnstown, polishers who have taken the place of the strikers, were attacked shortly after dark, or about 6:30 o'clock, on Monday night while going from the Wehrle foundry to the Forry street bridge, where they intended taking a car to the city. Just as they got on the bridge two of the striking polishers, C. P. Felix and George B. Collins, met them. Felix and Collins, without any preliminaries, drew their revolvers, and compelled the polishers by threats and force to go to a saloon in the Brothers building, on Union street, where they held them as prisoners. The two men making the attack finally went outside the saloon, but told their prisoners that if they attempted to escape they would brain them. The men were terrorized and remained in the saloon. They claim that Felix and Collins returned with a third man and at the point of revolvers took them into the back yard, where Collins struck at Hoover, who dodged him, and Felix struck Webb on the head and knocked him down and kicked him in the breast. Hoover and Webb managed to make their escape and as they ran away they heard Hartsock screaming out as the men beat him.

Hartsock has mysteriously disappeared and cannot be found anywhere, although a thorough search has been made for him, and nothing has been heard of him at Johnstown.

Leut. N. A. Jeffries, who has charge of the special officers at the Wehrle foundry, says that he attempted to make an investigation, but was unable to obtain any definite information regarding the matter. Warrants for the arrest of the three men charged with making the assault will be served.

NEWARK GIRL IS UNDER ARREST

PRETTY LOTTIE SMITH ACCUSED OF TRYING TO STEAL A RAIN COAT.

At City Prison Girl Made No Effort to Deny She Was Trying to Take the Garment.

Lottie Smith, a pretty young woman from Newark, is in prison in Columbus on the charge of attempting to steal a raincoat from a dry goods store. The name Lottie Smith does not appear in the Newark directory. The following message from Columbus tells of the girl's arrest:

Columbus, Oct. 24.—Vigilance on the part of clerks and proprietors of Columbus stores, resulting from personal warnings issued recently by the police department, has already borne fruit and as a result Lottie Smith, a comely young woman, whose home is at Newark, is in the city prison charged with attempting to steal a raincoat from Childs' dry goods store, in High street, near Broad. The woman was detected, it is alleged, in the act of taking the raincoat yesterday while she was with a companion, Lillian Miller, who was looking over coats with the ostensible purpose of making a purchase.

A clerk declares he noticed the actions of the Smith woman and compelled her to turn over the property she was trying to get away with. She was then detained until Headquarters Officer Frank Goshnell could arrive to take her into custody. At city prison the woman made no effort to deny she was trying to take the coat.

On account of sickness at the Lutheran parsonage, Rev. J. Richards will preach at the United Brethren chapel on Pine street Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. 2342t

LIVES DEARER THAN OUR VERY OWN

How many lives dearer to us than our very own have been placed in needless jeopardy by failure to provide against and forestall the great suffering which too frequently accompanies and follows the bearing of children? That we would do anything within our power to obviate the possibility of such an happening is too patent to admit of question; therefore—mark well this fact—a liniment, by name, has been devised, whose function it is to prepare in advance the muscles and tissues intimately associated with parturition.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

This liniment is for external application. By its use the parts are relaxed and enabled to withstand not only the actual strain brought to bear on them during accouchement, but also to rally from this ordeal and speedily regain their normal proportions and tonicity. It is not irritating to the most sensitive surfaces, and is applicable to all cases. It's not enough to call it Mother's Friend—it's the friend of the whole family. $1.00, all druggists. Book "Motherhood" free.

FIGHT LAUNCHED FOR CLEAN SPORT

The people of Ohio will yet learn just what college team in the state is harboring professional players. It will be through the efforts of a Cleveland paper, The Leader, that the facts concerning the alleged "tainted" players will be given to the public. That paper in a lengthy editorial, treating on the subject, looked at the matter from a neutral standpoint and from its desire to see the college athletics in Ohio absolutely pure and free from the taint of professionalism.

The following extract from the editorial will prove of interest to the readers of the Advocate:

In college football the conditions are not elastic. The playing of men, hired for their strength and skill, on an amateur field is immoral. When a man bucks the line without the wavering of a second, or circles the onrushing ends by a supreme outburst of speed; when a player tackles his enemy faultlessly and saves a goal by his superior knowledge of the game, he has done a worthy thing. He knows it, and the people who watch him know it and cheer.

But if this man who has done this deed of prowess is paid to do it; if he is hired because his muscles are strong, his eye clear, and his judgment sound, to masquerade among men who are real sportsmen as one of their kind, he is a liar and a cheat.

And the men who have paid him to act this fraud are likewise liars and cheats. The members of the athletic association and alumni who set aside his wages for him are guilty of a dishonest deed. The student who condones the act could as decently watch a confederate fleece a victim at a gambling table.

If this statement of the case is denied by the sentiment of the student body of any college, the condition of morals at that college is to be deplored. If the students of any college are being deceived by an athletic association that is willing to resort to what is nothing other than theft to keep in the game of football, these athletic association men are guilty of a double treachery.

As to the situation in Ohio colleges: One college of the Big Six has men on its football team who receive compensation for their work on the field. Another college outside the Big Six is guilty of the same crime. Of these statements the Leader has proof. Indefinite accusations have been made against the integrity of athletics in two other institutions. These charges have not been proved by the Leader. They may be false.

Whatever the conditions, whatever the sentiment, this thing is true: Ohio college football must be clean. There can be no middle ground. Among amateurs the game must be kept without taint. Otherwise, let it be turned over to professionals who are not afraid to be known by their real name.

The sentiments expressed in the above editorial will be received with a hearty "amen" by every lover of fair play and clean sport in the state. Newark is no exception. On all sides is heard the cry for the true state of affairs in Ohio college football. It is to be hoped that the Leader's efforts will meet with success and that every professional in the state will be given a ride on a rail.

If the charges of professionalism against Denison players are proved beyond a doubt, let them suffer with the rest, but it is not fair for every college in the state to boycott the Granville school when they are "living in glass houses." Dr. Colwell of the Denison faculty, insists that the men on the Denison team are eligible to play according to the Big Six rules and surely Dr. Colwell's statement is to be given credence.

Athletics Honored.
Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—The Philadelphia American league baseball club, which this year for the second time in four years won the American league championship, was honored by a public celebration. A street parade extraordinary in character and elaborate in display formed a demonstration unique in the city's baseball history. The special guests besides the officials and players of the American league club were the Philadelphia National league club, the New York National league club, the officials of these organizations, President Ban Johnson of the American league and officials of the various minor leagues.

WHO WILL MANAGE NEXT YEAR'S TEAM?

Catcher Joe Doyle is a Popular Candidate Among the Fans at Winter Fanning Bees.

Now that the base ball for Newark has really been laid on the shelf for the winter months, there are frequent fanning bees over the city nights and many valuable and interesting suggestions are made. Naturally the conversation turns to the management of this season's team and speculations are made as to who will direct the destinies of the '06 aggregation.

Joe Doyle is the popular candidate for the management next year at these conferences. He was and always will be a popular man with the players. With the possible exception of Bert Blue and "Peaches" O'Neill, Joe was among the best backstops in the circuit. Not only is he a good player but he is always in the game and is a hard loser.

His knowledge of the ability of players over the country is faultless and he has a list of names nearly a mile long of these men and no position on the team was ever left vacant that he did not offer the names of a half dozen or more as possible candidates.

Every fan in the city would be glad to see Doyle at the head of the business end of the team and at the receiving end of the battery. Doyle left for his home Tuesday. He didn't go broke either, for he exhibited a comfortable roll of greenbacks to a friend. Besides this, Joe has sent money to his mother at Newport, nearly every month.

BALL PLAYERS

Hunting Their Homes for the Winter. McDonald Returned to Cleveland Today.

Second Baseman McDonald left today for his home in Cleveland, where he will spend the winter. Mack has a position in an attorney's office awaiting him there and will do indoor work during the cold weather.

Al Schweitzer, who so successfully covered the center field territory for the Newark team, is visiting friends at Mt. Vernon and will leave Sunday for Cincinnati, his home. Schweitzer has received three different offers during the past week, besides the many contracts offered before the close of the season.

Left Fielder Bissell, who was dubbed "Carpet Sweeper" Bissell, by the sport writer of the Zanesville Signal, will remain in Newark at least for the present. He is now employed as night clerk at the Manhattan Hotel. His home is at Bedford, Ohio, a small suburb of Cleveland. Walter Snodgrass has accepted a position for the winter at Wehrle's, while Snyder and Stone will spend their time in Newark and Columbus. Davis and Wratten have been in Cincinnati for some time, having gone home directly after the series with Lancaster.

Doyle Goes Home.

Catcher Joe Doyle, who has been one of the most popular members of the Newark baseball team, left Tuesday for his home at Newport, Ky. Joe likes Newark and will return here next year. He is a catcher who has won a good reputation throughout the independent circuit, though he was with a team which lost the majority of their games. Doyle will spend the winter months at Newport.

NO RACES

Tuesday Afternoon Because of the Heavy Rain—Ladies Admitted Free Wednesday.

The races scheduled for Tuesday afternoon were declared off. The rain during the night and on Tuesday morning rendered the track unfit for travel, and this action was taken only when there was no other alternative.

On Wednesday, three races will be run. The 2:14 pace, the 2:14 trot and the 2:23 pace. All ladies will be admitted free Wednesday.

The field of horses entered for this fall meeting is said to be the best ever brought to Newark. Many came from quite a distance and when the weather will allow the track to get into shape, there will be some great horse racing at Idlewilde.

NEWARK COURT IS TOO BUSY

TIP O'NEILL CASE WILL NOT COME HERE FROM COLUMBUS COURT.

Judge Seward Tells Prosecutor Seymour That He Cannot Try the Case.

As wired the Advocate Monday by the Advocate's Columbus correspondent, Judge Evans granted "Tip" O'Neill a change of venue and that the case would probably be tried in Newark.

Later in the afternoon County Clerk Hursey received a telegram from Prosecuting Attorney Seymour of Franklin county inquiring whether or not the case could be tried in the Licking county Common Pleas court. The matter was referred to Judge Seward who wired the prosecutor of Franklin county that the case could not be tried for the reason that the court would be too busy and would not be able to attend to it.

CUT HIS FIST

When He Smashed Glass in Frames at Auditorium—Was Heavily Fined.

A man giving the name of Ramey was fined Tuesday by Mayor Crilly for the malicious destruction of property. Ramey, it is charged, smashed the glass in two large display frames advertising the coming attractions at the Auditorium. The man's fist was lacerated. A warrant filed by the managers of the Auditorium resulted in his arrest. His fine amounted to $9 and he was sent to the county jail.

STATE NEWS

Foraker in Bed.
Columbus, O., Oct. 24.—Senator Foraker has cancelled his engagement for a speech at the Republican rally here this week. He has a slight attack of inflammation of the bowels and is confined to his bed.

Zanesville's Lighting Contract.
Zanesville, Oct. 24.—Zanesville is to have electric lighting all night and every night from 275 arc lamps for the next five years, at $60 a lamp, with a possible discount that will reduce the price to $57 a lamp. This will be possible under the ordinance taken from the table at council last night and passed, whereby the board of public service may contract for lighting at this price.

McKinley Monument Begun.
Columbus, O., Oct. 24.—Work has commenced at the capitol for the erection of the McKinley monument. It is thought by the contractors that it will be a year before the work is completed.

Fred Mathes Dead.
Mansfield, Oct. 24.—Fred Mathes, 35, ex-pool champion of Ohio, died yesterday in the city prison. Mathes was found unconscious on the street and died a few minutes after being taken to the city prison.

Crowds Threaten Trouble.
Canal Dover, O., Oct. 24.—Several hundred persons gathered in the streets of New Philadelphia and threatened violence to the men operating the cars of the Tuscarawas traction lines between this city and Uhrichsville because the management of the road had doubled the rate of fare between the two towns. Persons who had refused to pay the increased fare were ejected from the cars, and this aroused the ire of many citizens, the hostile demonstration following. This action caused the management to suspend operation of the line until an understanding with the county commissioners regarding the rate of fare to be charged can be arrived at.

Overwork Unbalanced Him.
Lebanon, O., Oct. 24.—Edwin F. Pow, 44, a prosperous farmer living near Springboro, shot himself with a revolver in the temple and died instantly. Pow, who had accumulated considerable property through his farm work, had overexerted himself, and his mind became somewhat unbalanced, so that for a time he was in a sanitarium, but was discharged as cured.

Duelists Fatally Hurt.
Steubenville, O., Oct. 24.—Mitchell Jones and Oliver Hewsom, both colored, engaged in a cutting and shooting affray on the streets of Mt. Pleasant, which is expected to result fatally for both. Jones cut Hewsom in a dozen places with a razor, and Hewsom shot Jones. The quarrel was the outgrowth of jealousy.

Girl Found Dead.
Cincinnati, O., Oct. 24.—Dollie Cronin, 30, was found dead in her room by Joseph Thatcher, who reported to the police. Her nose and ears were stuffed with cotton, and this fact so aroused the suspicion of the police that Thatcher was arrested and held on suspicion.

Jury Dies in Box.
Wapakoneta, O., Oct. 24.—While sitting on a jury Arminius Sillis, 70, a wealthy retired farmer, was stricken with paralysis and died two hours later. He sat motionless for half an hour before his fellow jurors realized his condition.

Rumor Caused a Run.
Cleveland, O., Oct. 24.—A rumor caused a slight run on the Perry branch of the Cleveland Trust company. E. G. Tilson, an official of the company, said the run was caused by reports circulated by a woman.

Settled Out of Court.
Steubenville, O., Oct. 24.—Miss Mayme Keiser of Dayton, O., filed a breach of promise suit in the sum of $10,000 against George Z. Smith, the foreman of a West Virginia tin plate mill, who shortly afterward appeared in court and made a cash settlement.

BLOODHOUNDS
Stop at House But Investigation Will be Made Before Action is Taken by Officers.

Johnstown, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Bloodhounds followed a trail here Monday afternoon in the burglary case of W. E. Bates, and though the dogs worked well, no arrest was made. The dogs started from the Bates yard and after circling the village returned through the town and stopped at a house, refusing to go further.

Mr. Bates says that an investigation will be made before any arrests are approved by him.

Taft's Recommendation.
Washington, Oct. 24.—Secretary Taft will recommend to congress an increase in the number of artillerymen of the army in order that there shall be a sufficient number of men to man the forts and care for the coast defenses. It is not expected that there will be any reduction in the estimates of the war department this year, as the expenses of the army can not be decreased and additional appropriations are necessary to continue the fortifications in the insular possessions.

RURAL CARRIERS

The jollification and banquet held by Rural Carriers at Zanesville Saturday was a success. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by County President Clarkson, then a selection by the orchestra. The address of welcome was made by the postmaster of Zanesville, and an address by State President Hepner of O. R. L. C. which was well received. Address by State Secretary J. J. Zeigler of Navarre, and by the assistant postmaster of Zanesville explaining why the deficiency occurred in the postal receipts and the growth of the system since its first existence in Ohio, the first rural route being established at Zanesville in 1898. There are now 2200 rural routes in Ohio, making one of the greatest branches of the postoffice.

J. I. Smith of Newark, explained why this meeting of the rural carriers of Muskingum county and other counties was called and how to get rid of the "penny" question, so annoying to carriers.

A number of other speakers were called upon, among them Mr. Dye of Chambersville, James Achison of Cambridge, after which the meeting adjourned, and all attended the banquet held at Masonic Temple. The banquet was presided over by the postmaster at Zanesville and was enjoyed by all the members.

The special car left Zanesville at 12 o'clock for Newark. About 125 members from all over the state attended this meeting.

Murder and Suicide.
Washington, Oct. 24.—Mary Frances Scheitlin, 35, the wife of Rudolph U. Scheitlin, an electrician at the navy yard, and William A. Botomy, 38, were found dead by the husband in the front room of the Scheitlin home. A revolver, from which three shots had been fired, was on the floor. Two shots hit the woman and the third the man. The discovery was made when the husband returned from work. The police believe that Botomy first shot the woman and then himself. Botomy had visited the house several times recently, but had been warned by the husband to stay away.

SAMUEL TRACE DIES OF INJURY

STONE MASON KNOCKED OFF A BRIDGE BY TRAIN LAST WEEK.

Man Was Probably Asleep on Track in East Newark When Pan Handle Train Hit Him.

Death came to the relief of the sufferings of Samuel Trace at about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at his home in Myers Court in East Newark.

Mr. Trace was struck some time during the night of October 17, by a Pan Handle train, while sitting asleep on the tracks at the East Newark bridge over the North Fork. He was hurled down the bridge abutment, a distance of 25 feet and sustained injuries to the spine, which caused paralysis from the hips down, besides internal injuries. He was taken to the City Hospital, where Dr. R. E. McCullough attended him. On Monday he was removed to his home at his own request.

From the first the physician held out no hope of the man's recovery, as it was seen that he was almost necessarily fatally injured.

The body was taken to the Bowers & Criss Bros. establishment and prepared for burial.

Trace was a well known stone mason, and was about 40 years of age. He leaves a wife and two children, besides a father, mother and several brothers.

The funeral will take place from the late home at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, Rev. J. C. Schindel conducting the services. Interment in Cedar Hill cemetery.

AMUSEMENTS

GENIUS AND MODEL.

In the Genius and the Model Henry Woodruff one of New York's most popular matinee idols, plays the part of the Genius, while the Model is portrayed by Edna Goodrich, a new star whose striking beauty had already made her famous before she had had an opportunity to display the dramatic power and versatility which make her one of the most capable actresses upon the American stage. William G. Stewart, under whose capable management the comedy is produced, is well known as an opera singer and director. Mr. Stewart has provided an exceptionally strong supporting cast for the Genius and the Model, and the company has scored a success from the very start. At the Auditorium Thursday night, Oct. 26.

SCHOOL FOR HUSBANDS.

"The School for Husbands" run of two hundred nights at Wallack's theatre in New York City, last year, was followed by an equally successful engagement at Powers' theatre, Chicago, recently. Miss Fischer's summer rest and some extra study of her role has resulted in her reading her lines with added freshness and point, if such a thing were possible. Mr. Kilgour's portrayal of the rake of a husband is done with even greater suavity than it was when the piece was given in New York. Outwardly the same pretty eighteenth century setting and fresh costumes are being used on tour. "The School for Husbands" with Miss Fischer, Mr. Kilgour, Miss Fola L. Follette and the other members of the distinguished company will appear at the Auditorium Friday evening.

ELSIE JANIS COMING.

This is one of the few cities in which Elsie Janis is still to appear in before returning to New York in a brand new piece, announcement of which is soon to be made. Later she will go to London, and doubtless delight the Britishers quite as much as she has their American cousins.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed 50c and $1.00 bottles at Hall's Drug Store. Trial bottles free.

STATISTICS

Of Ohio Show That Fewer Married Than Single People Died in the Past Year.

Ohio gained about 23,000 last year in population by the law of natural increase. According to the statistics just compiled by Statistician Smith, of the Secretary of State's office, there were 56,516 births and only 33,195 deaths, not counting Hamilton county, which has not reported, says the Columbus Press Post.

The race problem does not seem to be a very pressing one in the Buckeye state for births in the white race numbered all but 956 of the total number. The deaths were about at the ratio however, and only 327 of the colored race gave up the ghost in the 12 months in the state.

In the state at large the boys born outnumbered the girls, there being 29,028 boys to 27,488 girls. This is a guarantee that they will not have to be old maids, but will have plenty of suitors seeking them, for there will not be enough of the fair sex to go around at the present figures.

There were 12,212 marriages in the state, of which 1027 were colored people.

The vital statistics show the married people to have the advantage of those unmarried, for while 13,984 single ones and 5,813 widows and widowers passed over the river, only 12,618 married people joined the great majority.

Of those who died diphtheria took 229, scarlet fever 162, typhoid fever 115, grip 431, alcoholism 78, cancer 1041 consumption 2671 22 took their own lives, and 3798 died violent deaths.
